

Notes from the June 15, 2017 meeting:

Emily Jenkins, Assistant Professor, UBC School of Nursing shared findings from the Social Networking App for Resilience Study (SONAR), a community-based KT project aimed at promoting adolescent mental health in a rural BC community. This study informed the CollaboraKTion Framework for community-based KT; a process that guides the development, implementation, and evaluation of evidence-based, contextually responsive initiatives aimed at enhancing population-level health outcomes. For more info on Emily's work, click this link: <https://nursing.ubc.ca/our-people/emily-jenkins>

The recording of Emily's talk can be found here:
<http://bcsupportunit.ca/about/resources/webinar-recordings-learning-resources/#externalwebinars>

If you'd like to share a project to elicit ideas from the group or if you have any questions, please contact us: Aggie Black, Research Leader, Professional Practice (ablack@providencehealth.bc.ca) or Alison Hoens, Knowledge Translation Specialist, BC SUPPORT Unit (ahoens@bcsupportunit.ca) More Information: <http://www.providenceresearch.ca/providence-health-care-knowledge-translation-community-practice>

More Information: <http://www.providenceresearch.ca/ktcommunityofpractice.html>

Next meeting: September 12, 2017, St Paul's, Dining Rooms 1&2 or by webinar. Alina McKay, PhD candidate at UBC School of Population & Public Health will share information about sharing research in plain language summaries.

This session is held in partnership with the BC SUPPORT Unit.